

Mike Rossner received his Ph.D. in molecular biology from The University of Edinburgh, under the supervision of Professor Sir Kenneth Murray. He was a post-doctoral fellow with Don Metcalf at The Walter and Eliza Hall Institute in Melbourne, Australia. He was the Executive Editor of The Journal of Cell Biology for 10 years before being promoted to Executive Director of The Rockefeller University Press in August, 2006.